

AWT Business Resources Committee Webinar: Government Contracts 101

Government contracts can be lucrative and open an entirely new market to contractors who have previously only focused on private sector and commercial contracts. Government contracts can be especially attractive for small businesses who may be eligible for set-asides and preferences, giving them a significant advantage over large businesses for government awards. Join Skip Hindman and Adam Green, Baker, Donelson, Bearman, Caldwell & Berkowitz, PC, where they will provide important information on how to start doing business with federal, state and local agencies, and give timely and useful updates on issues and pitfalls for existing and experienced government contractors.
